Report on Training Program in Clinical Simulation and Skills Lab

Dr D. Y. Patil Medical College has always aimed at providing Medical Education and Health Care of International Standards. To prepare, nurture and develop Medical students, budding Physicians and Surgeons and practicing Medical Professionals in their areas of expertise it has established a multidisciplinary Clinical Simulation and Skills Lab (CSS Lab); in the year 2013

The CSS is specifically designed facility which is well equipped serving as practice rooms and training facilities offering medical students, physicians and surgeons in training and other medical staff to develop skills to a specified level of competence prior to or coordinated with direct patient contact alike in a protected, fault-forgiving environment for the practice of clinical skills prior to their real-life application. Thus, the CSS Lab creates a non-threatening environment, either through models, Simulators, simulated patients, mannequins and information technology to provide hands-on learning experiences for the practice of the essential clinical skills. The skills laboratory helps to ensure that all students have necessary learning opportunities and appropriate assessment and feedback before approaching real patients.

The CSS Laboratory is being effectively used in the undergraduate and postgraduate education and continuing medical education (CME) and continuing professional development (CPD) in addition to other health specialties education like Nursing, Physiotherapy, dental and Optometry, Anesthesia and operation theatre technician courses. This CSS Lab caters to the educational, training and evaluation of skills at various level of competencies right from Undergraduate, Postgraduate, Super specialty Medical Students to practicing Medical Professionals.

Various specialties utilize this Lab. For Undergraduates and Postgraduates teaching such as Orthopedics, General Surgery, General Medicine, Accident & Emergency, Anesthesiology, ENT, Ophthalmology, Obstetrics and Gynecology, Cardiology and Pediatrics and many more.

CLINICAL SIMULATION & SKILLS LAB

1. To complete a skill itself several times under supervision
2. To be able to perform a skill independently and routinely

Approach to achieve the Learning Objectives:

We follow the Six-Step Approach consists of the following six clearly defined steps:

1. The trainer demonstrates the skill in real time without giving instructions or explanatory words ("Demonstration").

The trainer repeats the procedure, this time describing all necessary sub- The Aim of the Facility is:

1. To provide a safe, protected and learner friendly environment in which the learner can practice various medical skills before using them in real clinical settings.
2. To Provide actual training of clinical procedures in a safe and fault forging environment prior to real life application at bedside or in the operating room thus ideally creating an atmosphere that allows the repeated, anxiety- and risk-free practice of targeted skills.
3. Helps learn and develop clinical reasoning skills, psychomotor surgical skills.
4. To help understand complex clinical concepts and decision making and applying appropriate procedural or Surgical skill through simulating these through Models, Mannequins, Instruments and simulators pertaining to path physiology, different Clinical scenarios, and their treatments.
5. Thus, it aims at building competent and safe Clinicians and Surgeons

CLINICAL SIMULATION & SKILLS LAB

Learning Objectives of CSS Lab are:

3. To see the implementation of the skill
2. steps ("Deconstruction").
3. The trainer performs the skill for a third time, this time following the sub-steps only as described to him by the trainee ("Comprehension").
4. The trainee performs the skill on his/her own ("Performance").
5. Evaluation of Training (Evaluation)- At the end of the session
 - The learner is competent in performing a defined skill set in a standardized step wise manner.
 - The learner should be able to competently apply the skills learned to solve a given clinical problem
6. Feedback.

Mode of Training:

Skills lab training follows a structured teaching concept, which takes place under supervision of Senior faculties and trainers. Here, procedural skills can be trained, repeatedly practiced, and evaluated until the required minimum standard for patient treatment is ensured. Skills lab training provides medical students with the necessary basic skills for later clinical activity by the means of models, mannequins, phantoms, instruments, equipment's, simulators.

We usually maintain a ratio of four Undergraduate (UG) students per UG station and two postgraduate (PG) students per PG station.

Postgraduate Immunohistochemistry and special stains training

(August 2023 to July 2024)

Demonstrations and lectures for Immunohistochemistry and special stains are taken once a year for four days and two days respectively. The basic principles and applications of immunohistochemistry and special stains are explained. A practical demonstration to enable visualization of stained elements is done on the subsequent days.

Schedule for Immunohistochemistry:

Day 1: Briefing about Immunohistochemistry principle and techniques

Day 2: Immunohistochemistry Demonstration

Day 3 & Day 4: Supervised practicals using antigen-antibody kits

Structure of program:

Students: Postgraduate students enrolled in the department

Duration: 4 days (6 hours per day)

Schedule for Special stains:

Day 1: Briefing about Special stains – Principles and Applications

Day 2: Practical Demonstration for special stains

DEPARTMENT OF PEDIATRIC AND PREVENTIVE DENTISTRY

Report on training programme in clinical skill lab

Training of first-year postgraduate students was done in the preclinical skill lab of the Department of Pediatric and preventive dentistry. The training schedule was prepared at the start of the academic year. The training was taken for carving of all deciduous teeth, basic wire bending exercises and basic spot-welding exercises. The postgraduate students also performed the fabrication of habit-breaking appliances, myofunctional exercises, space maintainers, and space regainers under the skill lab training. In order to understand the pulpal anatomy better, tooth sectioning was performed. Training on the phantom head was done for all restorative and pulpal treatments. Fabrication of splints, types of wiring, and suturing was performed to enhance the surgical skills of students. The preclinical training helped the first-year postgraduate students to acquire clinical skills and prepared them for the clinical work on patients.

REPORT ON CHILD HEALTH NURSING MODULE

The Essential Newborn Care (ENBC) module focuses on providing comprehensive care for newborns, including immediate care after birth, breastfeeding support, and maintaining warmth. Neonatal resuscitation is a critical skill covered in the module, emphasizing the importance of timely and effective intervention for newborns who do not breathe spontaneously after birth. The Integrated Management of Neonatal and Childhood Illness (IMNCI) strategy is also included, combining preventive and curative measures to address the most common causes of childhood mortality. Together, these modules equip healthcare providers with essential skills to ensure the survival and healthy development of newborns and young children. The child health nursing module is an integral part of third year syllabus for B. Sc Nursing, program was conducted from 26/02/2024 to 28/02/2024. allotted teachers for this module are Ms. Vaishali Jagtap, Ms. Apeksha Bhalerao, Ms. Shraddha Pakhare, total 86 students were present for child health nursing module.
